LI: I can express a point of view about the characters in the parable of the Lost Son and give a reason for each view.

The parable tells us that the Father is forgiving because when his younger son returned after leaving and being ungrateful to him the Father still forgave him - which is really saying something. He opened his arms to the person who had taken money from him, thrown away his love and ignored him. We can learn from the Father to be more forgiving and loving. ✓ Fabulous answer.

The actions of the youngest son offended both his Father and older brother badly causing the Father to feel unloved and the older brother to feel deserted and lonely because his brother had deserted him. The younger son's beliefs were only about himself, but that only he mattered, the same for his values. I do think he learned from his actions because he spoiled and serious offered to be a servant which meant he did not value himself as much as before his experience and journey. ✓

The older brother had many good points, for example that he had always been loyal and helped without any reward, but now his brother, his mean and ungrateful brother got a party and the outdated robe. Obviously, he must feel annoyed and ungrateful towards his brother. It is easy to understand how he feels, but it would be more kind to forgive his brother and celebrate because sometimes you just have to let it go as it will just ruin everything. ✓ Well done 2 stars
